WE NOMINATE

John Quincy Stewart, one of Princeton's most articulate and stimulating men of science, who in the past week—with the launching of the rocket-driven Russian satellite which is now circling the globe to the discomfiture of American scientists and policy-makers—hasn't hesitated to speak his mind on two basic points. A member of the Princeton University Faculty since 1921, and widely known as an astronomical physicist as well as a pioneer in social physics, the 63-year old Princetonian emphasizes (to his distress) that this country is "far behind" the Soviet Union in the development of "rocketry and military engineering." He also lambastes the nation's spokesmen for their "churlishness and narrow-mindedness" in acknowledging what he terms a "benchmark in man's advance to control the universe."

Friday evening, when Stewart and his 1915 Princeton classmate, Walter van Braam Roberts, distinguished electrical engineer, succeeded in radio-tracking the satellite's third trip, the "ping-ping" from space came as confirmation of a prediction Stewart had made 26 years earlier. In 1931 he had said that the launching of a satellite would be an intermediary step to man's reaching the moon and that by 2050 man would have devised a means of traveling at the rate of 50,000 miles per hour. His 1931 audience, and later many of his associates, greeted his thoughts skeptically. However, "Sputnik" is orbiting at 18,000 miles an hour and Stewart explains that his predictions were based upon peacetime development, not upon an international race for supremacy and survival.

Stewart, whose political and philosophical approach to social physics (the application of scientific principles to human affairs) is closely related to that of the political thinkers of the 18th century, frequently tells his astronomy students that it takes ideas to defend ideas, that education must guard against "doctrinaire departmentalism of knowledge" and that there is a crying need for men who can see the whole picture and transfer information from one field to the next. He points out, as he did this week over Princeton Radio WPRB, that James Madison, of the Class of 1772 at Nassau Hall, found in his Princeton science courses the sweep and power of natural laws which 15 years after graduation helped guide his thinking as a leader in framing the U. S. Constitution.

In his decades here Stewart, a native of Harrisburg, Pa., and Army veteran of World War I, has "practiced what he has preached" and his research has ranged from the experimental and observational to the theoretical. He has published in an incredible number fields: social physics, magnetism, acoustics, opacity of gases, stellar atmospheres, space flight, sunspots, lunar features, hurricanes, marine and air navigation, and demography. Weather, especially hurricanes, has been among his special interests. In 1955, he attracted wide attention by flatly contradicting the U.S. Weather Bureau's warnings about the anticipated violence of Hurricane Ione, a series of Bureau forecasts subsequently called the "most sensational of false predictions" by The New York Times.

For his searching interest in the fundamental sciences; for his understanding of science as an international means of communication which disregards national interests and rivalries; for believing that this country in all things has the still undeveloped potential to lead rather than to follow; he is our nominee for

"FLAT FOOT FLU-SIE"

No. 1 on Hit Parade, Princeton was no different than most other U.S. communities this past week, and Princetonians were no different than most other Americans. The town considered the significance of Russia's earth satellite through one of its academic eyes while keeping the other glued on an easier-to-see sphere—the World Series baseball. Princetonians still talked about Little Rock. But, above all else, they discussed "Asian flu," the most publicized import since the Japanese beetle.

No one seemed quite sure about the newest "bug"—the one that hits humans rather than plants. Some felt confident because they had already received a vaccine shot. Others worried because they were certain it was too late for vaccine to do any good, since "Asian flu" already has laid low a number of persons in and around Princeton. Still others figured the malady wasn't too bad and were prepared to spend a couple of days in bed once it got them.

At Princeton High School, hardest hit of all "bugged" down institutions in the community, officials reported a peak of absenteeism—362 students out—on Tuesday. This total represented almost 30% of PHS' enrollment and was about three times higher than normal daily absences for this time of year, 125. Four teachers were bedridden, a relatively small number.

Joseph V. Drulis, PHS vice-principal, said there was no need for alarm and that, in all probability, the school would not be closed at all. "We've found that the 'bug' lasts about two days," the educator commented, "and that about 100 students are re-

Don't Look Now, But...

Princeton is about to substitute order for chaos at the oft-congested intersection of Washington Road and College Road. Along with the Township Police Department and the Township Committee, Town Topics has been pressing for such action in recent issues through stories and pictures.

This past week, Township Clerk Joseph R. Nini received notification from the State Bureau of Traffic Safety that it is taking steps to correct the dangerous situation at Washington and College, one of Princeton's worst crossroads. Included in the "steps" is a plan from the Bureau that covers widening of the intersection and installation of a traffic light.

Township officials and Princeton-minded officials at higher levels have been agitating for Washington-College action for years. "We're about to get what we want," Mr. Nini observed Tuesday evening, "so let's lay off the County until we get it. Town Topics has made its point."

turning to classes each day. We should be out of the woods very soon."

No Epidemic Here. Elsewhere in Princeton's public school systems, absenteeism was running "a little above normal." On Tuesday, Nassau Street School reported 100 of 640 absent. Witherspoon School 82 of 321, Valley Road School 53 of 614 and Littlebrook 56 of 575 or so. "A few teachers" also were missing from each school. In the vast majority of cases, "Asian flu" was not credited as the cause of the absences.

An infirmary physician at Princeton University, noting that "we expect a sizeable increase in gripe colds about this time," admitted the University has a few more "cold" patients than usual, but certainly "no epidemic as far as we can tell. Of course, we don't know how many ambulatory cases are around." Princeton Theological Seminary reported several secretaries out, but only two cases of gripe among its 475 students. Princeton Country Day School listed 14 of 180 absent, Westminster Choir College 25 of 300, Miss Fine's School 17 of 325 ("no flu"), Hun School "nothing unusual" and Columbus Boychoir School two of 39 ("most of our cases were picked up in South America several weeks ago by our touring boys").

Deciding to be prepared in the event of an out-and-out epidemic of "Asian flu," Borough and Township health officers conferred with Red Cross officials Tuesday afternoon. Both groups announced that trained personnel are available, if needed. Vaccine shots were given to all Borough employees and Township police, just as they had been administered to Princeton Hospital employees and others in key positions earlier.

Actually, Princeton appeared to be ready for anything but expectant of very little. Weekend rains and continued showers early this week were considered responsible for many of the colds among the community's students. A number of parents were known to be keeping children with sniff—Continued on Page 2 flies home as a precautionary measure, especially in the case of PHIS with its many sending-district pupils. Naturally, the World Series afforded some persons with a better-than-usual reason for staying in bed, though absenteeism was highest on Tuesday when there was no game. "Asian flu" was the topic of the day all right—until more is known about the earth satellite, at any rate.

PERSONALITIES

Dr. Hugh R. Taylor, Dean of the Graduate School of Princeton University and David B. Jones Professor of Chemistry at Princeton, next week will be awarded the Franklin Medal, most coveted honor of the Franklin Institute of the State of Pennsylvania. Dr. Taylor has been elected recipient of the medal "in recognition of his many notable contributions to the science of physical chemistry, particularly his development of the widely significant theory of heterogeneous catalysis, and his eminent achievements as author, editor and teacher."

Ashley Montagu, Cherry Hill Road, Chairman of the Department of Anthropology at Rutgers University, whose latest book, "Man: His First Million Years," was published this week and, in the course of customary reviews, received a number of complimentary notices. A sample of the author's style: "Mankind is moving—in spite of occasional appearances to the contrary—toward unity without uniformity, toward the condition in which the differences that today separate men will be regarded, not as cause for suspicion, fear and discrimination, but as no more important than the differences which separate the members of the same family."

John P. McCarthy Jr., 360 Jefferson Road, president of the Democratic Club of Princeton, and Richard W. Baker Jr., 207 Elgerstown Road, captain of the county committee for the Princeton Township Republican Club, who this week are responsible for "sounding off" in traditional American political style for the benefit of "Why I Plan to Vote," an annual pre-election feature in Town Topics (page 13). gubernatorial race; future installments of the four-part series will cover Borough and Township issues.

ROUND-UP

FAIL FACTS: Princeton Unitarians, long dedicated to the construction of a church at the southwest corner of Cherry Hill Road and Route 206, this week obtained a building permit from the Township and proceeded with plans to erect a $135,000 edifice . . . meanwhile, the Township, anxious to move ahead with development of its "master plan," eliminated all other competitors and hired I. Candeb & Associates of Newark as the municipality's authorized planning consultant . . . the newly-signed firm soon will talk "contract," hire a qualified draftsman and determine how far it is expected to go in its planning . . . in the Borough, the last news of the week was the report that Mayor P. Mackay Sturges is due home late this week following recovery from a July heart attack . . . those intriguing Maxwell Manor pillars are still standing out on Mercer Road, but prospective buyers have grown "a good deal warmer," according to would-be sellers at the Institute for Advanced Study . . . and plans of the New Jersey Power & Light Company to build a huge new electric generating plant in Hopewell Township on River Road, near the Mercer County Workhouse, have not gone astray, though the project (estimated cost: $35,000,000) is definitely long-range.

SHORT SHOTS: "I wish to thank everyone who was of help to me in this task, especially George R. Clay" . . . those are words written on one of the preface pages of "Remember Me to God," Myron S. Kaufman's compelling novel which is now No. 9 on the best-seller list and climbing fast . . . for the record, Mr. Clay, of Cherry Valley Road, is a short story writer and magazine contributor who scores often . . . if you're in an energetic mood this weekend, start raking those leaves in your yard as the Borough Engineering Department is almost set to begin collecting them with the aid of Princeton Nurseries (schedule details will be published next week) . . . some 40 Borough residents appeared before the County Tax Board last week to protest property valuations, but no results of the hearings will be reported for several weeks . . . football films of the successful (from the Princeton point of view) Princeton-Columbia game will be shown at 8 p. m. this Thursday in McCosh 46 on the University campus . . . films of subsequent games will be shown at the same time and place whenever the Tigers win.

DEDICATION PARTICIPANTS: Among those taking part in ceremonies dedicating the Seminary's new Speer Memorial Library Tuesday were Eugene C. Blake, trustee; President John A. Mackay and Harvard President Nathan M. Pusey. For details, see below.

TOPICS Of the Town

SPEER LIBRARY DEDICATED
Harvard's Pusey Speaks. "The imposing new Robert E. Speer Library, probably the largest and best designed seminary library in America, was dedicated Tuesday afternoon. Some 600 guests heard the presidents of Harvard and Princeton Universities speak on the occasion."

Speer Library cost $1,700,000 to build and will house approximately 250,000 volumes. Some $1,350,000 was given by the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., while alumni and friends of the 145-year-old seminary are raising the remaining $350,000.

The ceremony, threatened throughout by showers that never materialized, began with an invocation by the Rev. Hugh L. Evans, director of the Presbyterian Foundation and a seminary trustee. John G. Buchanan, chairman of the library committee of the board of trustees of the seminary, spoke of the late Dr. Robert E. Speer, whom he called "the greatest preacher of his time and the saintliest man I've ever known."

In addition to many prominent church leaders, Senator and Mrs. H. Alexander Smith were among the guests. The Speer family was represented by two of Dr. Speer's children, Miss Margaret Speer and William Speer, director of admissions at M.I.T. The State of New Jersey was represented by Mrs. Robert Meyner, wife of the Governor.

HOSPITAL GOAL TOPPED

Oversubscribed by $83,000. Announcement was made this week that Princeton Hospital's drive to raise $201,000 for a 24-bed addition has been exceeded by more than $83,000. John H. Wallace, Jr., president of its board of trustees, reported that $374,069 is at hand in cash or pledges.
Gifts ranged from $1 to $45,000, and were received from 1,118 individuals, firms or institutions. There were 146 donors in the latter category which accounted for $183,041 of the sum received. Mr. Wallace indicated that the trustees are "particularly pleased by this impressive response," and also spoke with appreciation of the gratifying reaction of residents of outlying areas to the appeal.

Success in the drive means that Gerard B. Lambert's pledge of $100,000 will now accrue to the —Continued on Page 4

"Magnificent New Home." In his address, Dr. Pusey pointed out that the library of the Princeton Seminary once could be kept on a shelf in a professor's study. "Happily it has now found a magnificent new home more appropriate to its present size and extraordinarily increased range and usefulness," he said.

Dr. Pusey discussed the task of a seminary and stressed the emphasis of the founders of the seminary on the fact that the church's ministry should be a learned one. "In my judgment, there is special reason in our generation to reaffirm this emphasis," Dr. Pusey said.

"Today a parish minister must be kind of preacher, administrator, teacher, psychiatrist, counselor, money raiser, community leader, all-around good fellow and undoubtedly other kinds of people. One can feel the deepest sympathy for the man confronted by such multifaceted responsibility. It is a fair question to ask how, faced by the necessity of preparing for such a complex and demanding role, a minister is ever to become, or remain, a learned interpreter of the faith."

After the actual dedication, as Dr. Mackay received the keys to the library from the architect's representative, Eugene C. Blake, a trustee of the seminary, he and the group in the dedicatory prayer. The Princeton Seminary Choir conducted by David H. Jones sang "Now Let Every Tongue," and Dr. Henry S. Gehman, oldest professor at the seminary, conferred hospital's benefit. Mr. Lambert promised to give this amount if the Princeton community raised the other $391,000 before the end of the current year.

Mr. Wallace noted with pride that results have fully borne out "your faith in the residents of Princeton," and thanked them profusely for their "warm-hearted generosity." Completion of the wing early next year will mean an adequate supply of beds at all times, he pointed out, while the $83,000 surplus will be used "to meet other capital requirements which have arisen since the goal was announced last December."

COUNCIL ACTION QUOT

Names, Not Issues. Names and numbers rather than any burning issues made news at Tuesday evening's thoroughly routine meeting of Mayor and Council, which consumed only some 37 minutes of the regular session (of 40 years) and marked the first time in eight long months that neither a parking or traffic ordinance has graced the monthly agenda.

Acting Mayor Johnson's brief summation of the past month's activities was highlighted by the report that out of some 2,700 individual reassessments in the Borough only 45 (or 1.7%) were appealed last week before the Mercer County Tax Board. One of three appellants, Mayor Johnson emphasized, was an individual property-owner.

Other matters of moment at the October session:

- George A. Cameron Jr., 61 Hodge Road, chairman of the board of the Princeton Poly-chrome Press and vice-president of Princeton Photo Process, was elevated to the Borough Housing Authority to complete the unexpired term of the late David S. Lloyd Jr. Mr. Cameron is also a member of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Parking and Traffic.

- The Borough's oldest land license, Number 15, which was issued to the late Jesse S. Clayton in 1911, will continue in service. It was awarded to Mr. Clayton's widow and son, Charles T.

- Princeton's tradition as a "shade-tree town" will continue, Borough Engineer I. Russell Riker explained. The community's new annual tree-planting program, which in recent years has dotted Princeton's thoroughfares with nearly 100 shade trees, is about to start, with the planting property-owner paying for the tree (at a wholesale price) and with Borough assuming responsibility for its planting.

Weather: What's the Weather?

*The rain clouds came to Princeton.
Their origin problematic;
Yet, this cold the rains were all called "Asiatic."*

—Sniffles
That's a fine contribution, Sniffles, but Town Topics is certain a good many of its readers can contribute better weather poetry. Trouble is, readers think their four-line weather poems must be timely or signed legitimately. That's not true! Town Topics is eager for any contributions, as can be deduced from the weather poems printed to date. So offerings are urged, whether they give the author proper credit or not!

As for the weather this week, our skies are expected for the upcoming Penn-Princeton football game despite a record of dark skies last weekend. Perhaps head colds and symptoms of Asiatic flu are common following the down-pours Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, but there are better days ahead. What about the days behind? No less than 87 of an inch of rainfall for the first week of October, or "a little bit above normal."

- The possibility of noise-abatement ordinance, conceivably similar to the laws on the books in New York City, Memphis, Tenn. and other congested areas, was raised by Miss Marie Zaepefl, 206 Nassau Street, a retired member of the Miss Fine's School Faculty. Miss Zaepefl doesn't mind the noises created by the "rhythm of traffic" but seriously objects to "the blasting of horns on Nassau Street" and the use of the automobile as a "form of responsive greeting." Miss Zaepefl first made this protest in a letter to Town Topics in early September.

- Francis S. Davidson, 69, Moran Avenue, has been elected to membership in Princeton Engine Company No. 1.

POLITICAL PALAVER

It's Only The Beginning. The fact that the 1957 elections are now less than a month away became apparent this week as participants of both major parties sought to claim the limelight. Between them and above them, the League of Women Voters of the Princeton Community made its strong voice heard in announcing its annual Candidates' Meeting for 8 p.m. October 24 and noting that only local hopefuls will appear this year, for brevity's sake.

Princeton Democrats opened their campaign headquarters this week. Located at 256 Nassau Street, a site formerly occupied by the Key Shop, the office is being staffed under the direction of Mrs. David Lilienthal Jr., who is still looking for volunteers to help her. Workers of the center of Democratic activity have high hopes that many Princetontians will pay them a visit. In the next few weeks to obtain election information and available literature on state and local issues and candidates.

In conjunction with the unveiling of their 32 headquarters, the Democrats' three aspirants for Borough posts—Raymond F. Male for mayor and Richard W. Colman Jr. and Richard A. Lester for council—issued a joint statement which emphasized four salient points. Mr. Male stressed the need for "building a bridge" between the public and Borough officials, citing his desire to conduct weekly press conferences, and advocated "increased use of the many and varied resources present in Princeton," particularly individual talents. His run—

News Of The THEATRES

MCCARTER THEATRE

"Square Root" Opening Set. Described simply as "a love story" starring Anne Baxter, "The Square Root of Wonder" will open its pre-Broadway career at 8 p.m. this Thursday and will run for four performances through Saturday, matinee and evening. Saint Subber and Figaro, Inc.—a firm headed by Hollywood's Joseph Mankiewicz and New Yorker Robert Lanz—is producing the third McCarter offering of the fall, which represents the first stage drama by novelist-playwright Carson McCullers since her memorable "The Member of the Wedding."

Jose Quintero, luminary of the off-Broadway Circle in the Square Theatre who directed the Pulitzer Prize-winning "Long Day's Journey Into Night," is the director for "Square Root," with Jo Medzinger contributing the scenery—an apple farm in Rockland County, New York (not in the South, as reported in an earlier column). The cast is headed by witty, incisive Jean Dixon as Mother Lovejoy and Philip Abbott and William Smithers as Miss Baxter's two leading men.

Two New Jersey Veterans Hospitals—not to mention the New Jersey social scene—will profit from the world premiere of the McCullers play. Mrs. Mary Roeding of Trenton, banker, civic leader, philanthropist and recently appointed state chairman of the Hospitalized Veterans Service, will preside over a large theatre-party which she has organized for Thursday's performance. The East Orange and Lyons VA Hospitals will benefit directly from the party's proceeds.

As Town Topics went to press, the managing directors of McCarter saw signs of the theatre's best turnout in recent years. All three evening performances are complete sellouts, while the Saturday "thrill machine" is expected to gain SRO status, too, with three-fourths of the house gone already.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

Cast Additional Noted. Director John Becker announced this week that Lorin Zissman, a veteran of several Princeton Community Players' productions, will replace William Snow, another veteran, as the male lead in "Witness for the Prosecution." The Players' first offering of the 1957-58 season, "Witness" is scheduled for six performances, three the weekend of October 24, 25 and 26 and three the following weekend.

Other additions to the cast of 30, now engaged in near-nightly rehearsals for the demanding Agatha Christie thriller, include Alan W. Richards, E. Nick Muller and Constance Barin-Gould. Regular tickets for each performance are priced at $2 and may be obtained at the University Store or the Princeton Agency at 17 Chambers Street (PT-1-6800). Subscription tickets, sealed at $7.50 for the forthcoming series of five plays, also are available.

courtroom drama, a likable young man is charged with murdering a wealthy woman whose estate he figures to inherit. His wife is his only ally—and, under questioning, she refuses to support him. According to Director Becker, Princetonians must come to the Playmill to find out whodunit—but the end is packed full of surprises, with a corkscrew twist of a finish.

Designed for anyone with an unutilized passion for the niceties of crime, the play was acclaimed on Broadway in 1954. Said the New York critics: "The most delightful achievement of its kind in years (Foot) . . . a wallowing success (Herald Tribune) . . . for sheer, unadulterated entertainment, there is nothing around town to equal it (World Telegram and Sun)."

THE PLAYHOUSE

3:10 to Yuma (October 10-12) is more than three hours and 10 minutes behind "High Noon" in more ways than one, but it is intriguing Western fare despite a logical companion, with that award-capturing Gary Cooper saga of several years back. In outline, the now time-piece has all the elements of classic Western drama. However, it falls in a position which is halfway between action drama and the more pretentious off-beat Western of ideas. Hakstead Welles' screenplay undrains the action, in favor of building various characterizations until the final minutes of the film. The performances are fine. Glenn Ford is especially effective as a soft-spoken but brutal killer, possessed of the kind of remarkable self-assurance usual—Continued on Page 6

Hearaches For "Lonelyhearts"

"Miss Lonelyhearts," given its world premiere at McCarver Theatre four weeks ago, opened at New York's Music Box last Thursday evening. The Broadway critics seemed to see the play from the same vantage point as Town Topics' reviewer:

"We are in trouble. I think, from the moment Fritz Weaver begins to suffer." (Walter Kerr, Herald Tribune)

"The Fritz Weaver" looked like a religious fanatic from the moment he stepped on the stage until the incredible moment he collapsed on it." (Town Topics)

"What I did care about was that Pat O'Brien... should have given such a good performance as the editor of a play which ought to have been better." (John McClell, Journal-American)

"Pat O'Brien... handled the part of a faithless, hard-drinking, profane editor with distinction... he has the ability to override rather formidable deficiencies of script." (Town Topics)

"In the novel, Mr. (Nathaniel) West wrote with a driving frenzy that gave the story tension and pace, substance and rhythm. But the episode structure of the play makes the story soft, loose and remote from reality." (Brooks Atkinson, Times)

"Nathaniel West's book... packed a pretty potent literary punch. Unfortunately, Mr. (Howard) Teichgraber obliged to condense the book's impact into the normal length of a dramatic play... allowed his target." (Town Topics)

ly reserved for the law man. Van Heflin is cast as a poor, drought-ridden farmer who, in the course of events, learns that, like many common men, he is made of uncommon clay, capable of true heroism when the time demands it. Lovely Felicia Farr does well during her brief appearance and Leora Dana, a young Broadway and TV actress, gives promise of good days ahead in Hollywood. Needless to say, Frankie Lane's irritating voice fills the cinema hall with another "catchy" title balled by Ned Washington.

Jet Pilot (October 13-19) refers to both of its co-stars, John Wayne and Janet Leigh, for the former dons Air Force attire once again; the title ranked as a colonel and the latter appears, believe it or not, as a Soviet jet. The planes they spin provide for an appreciable amount of effective film footage, but the tale they spin is ineffective from the word "zoom." Wayne is asked to join Miss Leigh the works at an Alaskan air base and, while escorting her around, it is supposed to glean tidbits about Red air power. Naturally, since he's up in the clouds in his jet anyhow, "Big Duke" fails for the lovely Red-head, and vice versa. Then he is told she is a Russian agent and, despite his now-twisted feeling for her, accepts an assignment to accompany her to Moscow, himself to be an agent. In Russia, as the Comrades close to cornering our hero, our heroine engineers his escape—by jet-flying protection for him, natch—and they zoom away into an anti-Soviet sunset, presumably headed for safety and romantic culmination.

Zov' voz Stenberg's direction of "Jet Pilot" indicates he had one eye on the feminine form and the other divided between an ineptitude story and some fine air photography. Winton C. Hoch, in charge of the picture's cameramen, deserves a nod for the material, including some excellent aereobatic shots, and, of course, the "cheers!" He cannot be blamed for photographing the rest of the action—he got paid for it—but someone ought to be

A POPULAR TREND

Apparently Princetonians are crazy about the idea of Folk Song Artists at Princeton, according to Richard A. Lakin, producer of the new series. Their early demands for tickets for the first concert have been "really crazy" and, as a result, The Tarriers will be held over for a second session this Saturday evening. The popular folk song trio will offer its initial program at 8:30 p.m. Friday in Murray Theatre.

Mr. Lakin announced this week that his second presentation, the evening of October 18, will combine the unusual talents of Will Hall and Brooks Jones. The former, a highly regarded night club, TV and record entertainer, has been described by the New Yorker as "probably the handsomest man over to his hands on either a gall or a folk song." The latter, a member of Princeton University's class of 1956 and former Triangle Club president, has recently done well at a night club tour and completed his first long-playing record album.

sprung from a jet without benefit of parachute. Needless to note, a "Big Duke" and Miss Leigh are the same as always—and in Technicolor—except that they are six years younger than ever, and Howard ("The Outlaw") Hughes help up release for unexplained reasons. The obvious question: Why did he bother at all?

THE GARDEN

The Ten Commandments (now showing) or the story of Moses and the deliverance of a people from the bondage of dictatorial slavery, was one of the outstanding pictures in the history of the screen when Cecil B. DeMille first produced it in the "Silent" 1920s. Now, the same great producer-director has made a modern version of the same Biblical developments, adding all of the cinema advancements at his command in the 1950s and using the film, perhaps as a fitting pinnacle of his significant career. In Visistat-Vision and Technicolor, "Commandments" represents one of the most arresting and lavish Hollywood productions of all time, entirely in the spectacular DeMille manner, but a tribute to the industry.

Nothing has been left out of this 215-minute recounting of Biblical history, much of it believable and some of it more entertaining than factual. The movement of horses and men against vast backgrounds, of soldiers and chariots, of pulsating horns borne by the stress of mass hysteria are handled with consummate skill and breathtaking effect. "Miracles" are masterpieces of theatrical production. And the lineup of stars, offering generally good characterizations, is seemingly perfect: Charlton Heston as Moses, Anne Baxter as Miriam, Yul Brynner as Pharaoh, Edward G. Robinson as Dathan, Yvonne De Carlo as Sephora, Debra Paget as Lilia, Sir Cedric Hardwicke as Sethi, John Derek as Joshua, Nina Foch as Bathsheba, Judith Anderson as Miriam, John Carridine as Aaron, Martha Scott as Yochabel, Vincent Price as Baka, etc.

IT'S NEW To Us

OVER THE HUMP

Saddle Your Camel. It's been so many years since we rode camel-back that we're not prepared to vouch for the authenticity of a new camel saddle they have at the Radio and Hobby Center on Witherspoon Street. Mr. Aaron says it really is a camel saddle, and we're prepared to accept this, and the saddle has been tamed down considerably from its nomadic Bedouin days and now sits placidly in front of a TV set or a natural. The wood is walnut or natural, and the sheepskin cushion on top is a natural color. Thongs lace the parts together. It looks surprisingly like an ottoman and considering its geographic origins, perhaps it is.

The Shop now has a new line of binoculars. They are called "Swift" and they range in price from $6.95 to $25. Leather case included. Only center-of-pot optical glass is used for the prisms and lenses and apparently this is a good thing. You get tinted lenses, too.

Some people like to hear a clock tick. We like the soft sound of sand through an hour glass—not so jangling on the nerves. Radio and Hobby has an exclusive line of hourglasses now and you can time anything from three minutes up to an hour.

Toys for great and small in this store. Here's a sand-painting set for children. You drizzle the colored sand onto wet paper, following the numbers just as you do in those painting-set pictures. Before long you have a sand-painting of a clown, a ship or whatever.

Little girls may buy a kit and from it make their own rag dolls. They may also develop their sewing skills with some sewing cards and fluffy yarns. Daddy's toy is a Blaupunkt high-fidelity console with five or six speeds (your choice), a 3-speed automatic intermix changer, and attachment for extra speaker or tape recorder. It's an ebony cabinet 43 inches long, 16 inches deep and 30 inches tall, priced at $299.

From the Birds. A collection of

Where There's Smoke

Bored with sending Christmas cards?

Zinder's advice—send an ash-tray instead. Not exactly a synonym for Christmas greetings, you might think, but you may change your mind when you see what Mr. Zinder has in his mind.

These shallow little glass ashtrays are smoky charcoal or white, and each of the 12 different designs has its own way of wishing "Merry Christmas". Gold, stylized trees stand out against the black of one, while, holly and snowmen make traditional cheer on another.

There's a simple "Season's Greetings" on a third, and one with a sly Santa that says, "Wish! You a Cool Yule and a Frantic First!" Two have gold calendars for 1958.

Send them off in a rigidly framed cardboard box that keeps them from breaking, even in Christmas mails. They cost six cents to mail, after you've paid 60c to $1 for the ash-tray itself.

fall hats at The Betty Wright Shop has been taken right from the birds. Feathers appear, singly or massed, on a heady group of handsome fall hats.

One is a red velvet whose narrow brim is an artful curve of pheasant feathers. Guinea hen feathers cover the complete crown of another hat—it's grey with occasional strokes of color. Cinnamon brown provides the foil for another hat with pheasant trim. A clump of feathers makes a little cocktail clip.

A magnificent plumage of ostrich feathers crowns the most spectacular hat in the little shop at 144 Nassau. This hat is a circle about 15 inches in diameter, worn straight on the head and held with some retiring clamps that hardly show at all. It is slightly convex and its entire surface is covered with lovely dusty-pink ostrich feathers. Go ahead, wear it: we dare you.

There is another feather-crowned hat, but its plumes are not pedigreed ostrich. There is a crown to this one and it's made of navy blue feathers with shaggy royal blue ones around the small brim.

Prices at Betty Wright's hat bar start at $2.98 for velvet cocktail clips and go up to $14.98 for that pink ostrich. In between you may have the conservatism of a grey wool jersey cloche or the excitement of some Italian-style hats by Madcap that consist of masses of plastic sequins on a crocheted background.

The hats may be long stocking caps, or slouchy berets but they are all sequin-covered. Look at the beret with two-inch silvers of curved red sequins all over it. Toss your head while you're wearing this one and you'll look like a Roman candle.

A bowl hat of shaggy fur felt makes you look like an ancient queen from Ur. It's oyster white, plain, $18.98. Just to hold your hair back—or to look as though you were—wear a headband of red or black pleated wool jersey and tie it behind your head. In the middle of all this feminine frivolity, Betty Wright has a black French lace chapel veil ($2.98). From the looks of it, this veil could lead quite a secular life, too.

MUSIC In Princeton

(Concerts in Princeton this season will be reviewed for Town Topics by John B. DeBridge. A native of California, Mr. DeBridge has studied music for 12 years, both privately and in the course of his regular education. His experience includes appearances as both a vocalist and instrumentalist. A resident of 16 Bank Street, he is associated with The Music Shop.)

CONCERT SEASON OPENS
Ormandy Well Received. A thoroughly appreciative Princeton audience packed McCarter Theatre Monday night to hear Eugene Ormandy and The Philadelphia Orchestra offer the nearest of two schools of music and the near-worst of a third. Despite the inherent weakness of score displayed by William Schuman's new "Credendum," Mr. Ormandy, through sheer technical skill, overcame what could have been a disastrous opening, and went on to present Symphony No. 2, in D major, Opus 73, by Brahms, and Mussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition" in an auspicious beginning to the Princeton concert season.

Perhaps the most significant commentary on "Credendum" was a program note—"played without pause"—which referred to the lack of formal division between "Declaration," "Chorale" and "Finale." It may also have referred to the lack of formal discipline evidenced in the work as a whole, which was commissioned by the United States National Commission for UNESCO. The closest Schuman gets to any kind of thematic material which might reflect the goals and aspirations of that political body is a sort of "brave new world" feeling imparted by the opening "Declaration." "Chorale" is a collection of almost-staircase and never-finished melodies which are lyrical but unsatisfactory, while "Finale" though performed by the Philadelphia group in a delightfully spotless manner, is spectacularly uninteresting.

In sharp contrast, the first movement (Allergro non troppo) of the Brahms D Major contains thoroughly conceived and beautifully entwined themes. Here Mr. Ormandy paid especially close attention to detail and the result was a charmingly defined lyricism. Adagio non troppo, as done in the traditionally romantic mood, but with that touch of sadness, which is the elusive quality of all good performances of the D major. The third movement, Allegretto, quasi andantino, was given a light yet substantial treatment, the two basic variations on the melody treated with slightly less importance than is the general custom. Here the strings made the most of Mr. Ormandy's leadership, and seemed to follow his slightest wish with more than usual attention.

But it was during the fourth movement, the Allegro con spirito, that performers and audience were brought together completely for the first time. The Allegro, one of the most spirited movements in all orchestra literature, was superbly done; conductor and musicians seemed to move and play as one; the richly deserved applause brought Mr. Ormandy back to the podium four times before intermission.

Mussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition" was the third and final work on the program. All 14 "pictures" were performed well, but five deserve special mention for their excellent descriptive quality. The opening "Promenade" is of course predominated by a familiar theme, while "The Gnomes" lends itself to slightly pishish antics by the woodwinds and strings. Both "Children Playing" and "Ballet of the Chick" left the audience chuckling. Frequently humorous, the Ormandy interpretation was interesting throughout, and as might be expected, failed majestically with "The Great Gate at Kiev." Insistent applause brought Mr. Ormandy back to encore with "Arioso," Cantata 156. By then a slow, tranquil work which the Philadelphia Orchestra did perfectly.

Despite a slow start, this opening concert was a success, and must set a high standard for others in the series to follow.

opens up to a double bed, with a foam mattress for the ultimate in comfort. Of course, the couch is only nine inches long and the foam is styrofoam, but if you're only eight inches tall, it couldn't be better. It has been designed for Ginny and her large family and Zinder's has stocked it for small housewives who have a guest-room problem when the little girl next door brings her Ginny to play.

A matching armchair, end coffee table (very "modern") and blanket chest go along. Inexplicably, a little toilet chair appears with this collection—we assume it belongs to Ginette.

Of course, the 7-8 inch doll is like last season's debutante. This year's coolest darling is the 20-inch doll who appears at Zinders in black leotard and high heels. In spite of this sophistication, she sleeps in a double bunk, and Zinder's has that, too.

You can knit for the Ginny-size doll, or teach a child to knit for her. There is a kit (yellow, blue or white) with instructions and notions for making a cardigan sweater and riddle cap for these little dolls. You pay $1 and get enough yarn for three pieces.

A jump rope that keeps count ($1) and a sewing basket filled with embroidery and hoop, scissors and accessories ($2.25) complete our tour of the girl's department.

Boys at Zinders may have a car that wrecks itself ($2.50) if you set the right dial. Otherwise it will proceed safely across the floor. We liked it better when it fell apart.

An unbreakable plastic tank wouldn't dream of falling apart, and neither would a transport truck that has a machinery hauling trailer and a skin-loader trailer or all for $2.98. These toys are flexible plastic that will stand up under being stood on. There is also a cargo ship with crane, boats, and cargo, and a rocket-firing truck, a jet plane that fires a rocket and a truck for a dollar.

But we like the little car that falls apart.

ning-maps underscored "cooperation" between Borough and Township leaders, criticizing the idea of a "China Wall" between the municipalities, and also urged closer contact between the Borough and its Board of Education. While the Democrats were clarifying four of their platform points, the Republicans were busy adding up the benefits of the symposium they sponsored 10 days ago, including a similar desire for cooperative efforts between Borough and Township. "Solution of Princeton's future lies in cooperative Borough and Township action after joint discussion," the area's five GOP candidates stated. The Republicans-Tripartite B. Johnson, Ralph D. Hull and Arthur P. Morgan in the Borough and H. Kenneth Fairman and Stanley C. Snoyner in the Township-thanked the 21 community leaders who participated in the parley and pledged themselves to comparable symposiums later on because of the "immense value" of such "idea" sessions.

In the Republican-dominated Township, the Democrats for Township Committee-James W. Foley and William W. Marvel-fired the first frontal blast of the campaign, "Princeton Township is at a fork in the road," they observed. "One road leads to an exclusively residential island, desirable but perhaps beyond our means. The other road leads to a community that is predominantly residential, but is more economically sound because deliberately, jointly and according to plan it has brought in certain tax-producing enterprises."

Messrs. Foley and Marvel urged steps to reach a "community judgment" on pressing matters, calling for a Mayor's Advisory Committee on Taxes and Finance as well as a Citizens' Advisory Committee on Planning. "Must we join the Republicans in their mutual-admiration society, as we see Princeton ringed around with concerns that contribute large tax liabilities to West Windsor, Lawrence and other adjacent townships," they asked. "We are convinced that Princeton Township must pull up short in its thoughtless drifting down the road to a closed residential island," they added.

ASCOP LAYOFF

Another 38 Workers Go. Announcing that the action was taken with "great reluctance and regret," Applied Science Corporation of Princeton this week laid off 38 more employees in a move to reduce the size of the company's operations. The action was taken on ASCOP's best estimates of government spending rates.

"We estimate, both for the present and the immediate future, dictate a direct reduction in ASCOP's operations," a company spokesman said. The principal market for ASCOP's electronic data-gathering and handling products is in the field of defense missiles and aircraft. Companies connected with this vital defense field have felt the effects of the government's re-evaluation of military spending.

Hobbies on Display

Exhibits ranging from a tiny Swiss village and Chinese tin-plate paintings to coin and stamp collections will be on display Saturday at the YMCA-sponsored hobby show. Hours are 3 to 9 p.m. at the Y building on Witherspoon Street. Also included in the show will be Leslie Laughlin's collection of pewter; a collection of early 19th century doll clothes, made in Switzerland and loaned by Mrs. William H. Scheider; a shell collection owned by Mrs. George C. Winteringer; and Frank Goto's coffee table inlaid with a map of the United States made of rare rock and bone samples from each State.

Attractions for children will include a sugar plum tree with inexpensive gifts and a Junior Cross craft table. The Business and Professional Club of the YMCA, of which Miss Margaret L. is president, is sponsoring the show.

CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

United Fund Opens Gift Drive. Pointing to the fact that 15 different civic organizations stand to benefit, the special gifts division of the United Community Fund has launched its 1957 campaign. R. Manning Brown, Jr., of 107 Laurel Road is directing 70 volunteer workers in this drive. Mr. Brown and his assistants hope that special contributions by 350 area residents will comprise 55 percent of the total United Fund goal. Although the 55 percent mark was attained in 1955, the figure dropped to 43 last year when special gifts provided only $68,500 toward the $160,000 goal.

Emphasis has been placed upon the large number of agencies federated in the campaign and Mr. Brown urges that each subscriber give "what would be a fair share amount if he were giving to each of these essential services in a separate appeal." When the special gifts drive ends on Friday, October 18, the business and neighborhood solicitation will get underway to provide funds for the same 15 community services. A committee of five is aiding Mr. Brown's campaign. It includes George J. Adrance, Hyman L. Battle, Jr., Frank F. Mountcastle, Edward C. Rose, Jr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward.

Birth List. A total of 17 births to area residents was recorded last week in Princeton Hospital.

Of the total, 12 were boys and five were girls. Parents of sons are: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cherrington, Edgemere Avenue, Plainsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Alistair Stewart, 62 Erdman Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Craig, 69 Mercer Street; Mr. and Mrs. John Kemmle, Clarkville Road, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Garrett E. Parke, 23 Pine Street; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph

RCA "OPEN HOUSE"
RCA Members to Attend. Members, families and friends of the Princeton Business Association have been invited by RCA Laboratories to attend an "open house" at the David Sarnoff Research Center in Princeton. The event will take place from 7 to 10 p.m. next Thursday, October 17.

According to officials of the RCA plant on U.S. laboratory rooms will be open for inspection, with members of the research staff on hand to explain different projects. A ticket of admission will be required for each invited guest.

Borough Court Action. Miss Barbara A. Cruser, 17, Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill, lost her driver's license for 30 days when she was convicted on Tuesday of careless driving. Magistrate R. C. Chesbro also fined her $10. Others in court were Chih Ree Sun, 34, 32 North Stanworth Drive, who drew a $15 fine for careless driving following his part in the truck accident on Bayard Lane on September 27; and John S. Low, 23, 630 Princeton-Kingston Road, for failure to yield the right of way.

In Trenton, the Department of Motor Vehicles announced a six-month revocation of the license of Peter L. Flumenoro, 20, 100 Linden Lane. Convictions on his record are careless driving, reckless driving and two for speeding.

Township Court Action. David Burnett, 21, Greenwood Avenue, Kingston, pleaded guilty in Township Court Tuesday night to charges of careless driving and using a revoked license. The charge arose from an accident September 24 at one of the exits from the Shopping Center on North Harrison Street. Mr. Burnett was fined $30 on the careless driving charge and $105 on the revoked license charge. Mrs. Neal W. O'Connor, 28 of 75 Marion Road, whose car, according to the testimony, was hit by Mr. Burnett's car, pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving and was dismissed.

Miss Carol Ann Bergstrom, 18, R.F.D. 1, was fined $20 for careless driving in connection with an accident on Quaker Road. Miss Bergstrom was driving on a learner's permit at the time of the accident. Magistrate Louis R. Gerber presided.

Israel Bond Reception. Set. Piers van Passen, author of many books about Israel, will be honored at the Israel Bond reception on Monday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Abrams, 44 Armour Road. Mr. Passen is a noted analyst of Middle East affairs.

The committee planning the bond effort includes: Dr. and Mrs. Abrams; Rabbi Joseph Gelberman, Mrs. William Bernstein, Mrs. Herman Cohen, Mrs. Rosalind Denard, Mrs. Meyer Goldstein, Mrs. Marge Horowitz, Mrs. Irving Rabinowitz, Jess Epstein and Edward Friesman.

D.A.R. to Hear Nathaniel Burt. "Student Life in the 18th Century" will be the subject of the talk to be given Thursday, October 17, to the Princeton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, by Nathaniel Burt, Author, poet and resident of Princeton. Mr. Burt will speak in the social hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Walter F. Fullam, regent, will preside at the business meeting. Mrs. A. C. Cornish will be the hostess, assisted by Miss Linda Stevenson, Miss Elizabeth Innes, Mrs. Frank M. McDonough, Mrs. William Pistell and Mrs. Harold Zarker.

Why Plan to Vote REPUBLICAN DEMOCRATIC

By RICHARD W. BAKER, JR.

By JOHN F. MCCARTHY, JR.

I am going to vote for Malcolm Forbes for Governor for far more than purely reasons. I think it is essential that New Jersey have firm leadership to meet the many problems that are facing our state.

Governor Meyner has consistently avoided taking a definite stand on controversial matters, such as taxes, water, highways, and government spending. Senator Forbes has taken positive and courageous stands on these matters and, as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, fought a hard battle to keep the expenses of government down to the lowest possible limits consistent with the provision of services which the people of the state have a right to expect. He has blocked efforts to increase the budget for purely political purposes on a number of occasions.

Senator Forbes had the courage to oppose the CIO Political Action Committee's inflationary legislative program in spite of the disadvantage such a stand might produce in lost votes. Governor Meyner, on the other hand, was reported to have given a favorable reaction to these proposals, and therefore received the committee's political endorsement.

Senator Forbes is certain that the proper costs of government can be covered without resort to a state income tax or sales tax, and has pledged himself to this, whereas Governor Meyner has annually proposed increased taxes, and has even included an income tax, for purposes that in many cases were difficult to justify. These were successfully resisted by the Republican legislature.

Governor Meyner has been less than candid in the matter of the insurance scandal which has recently been revealed and which certainly, in the public interest, should have been fully aired. He has yet to take a position on the vital issue of water resources in this state, and this problem cannot be solved with a vacillating hand on the helm.

In short, I feel that we must give New Jersey a Governor who has initiative, the courage of his convictions, and a demonstrated willingness to fight the battle of the taxpayers against politically-inspired inflation of the budget. Only a leader with a firmness of character and a dedication to the welfare of the people as a whole will enable our state to meet the challenges of the present and of the years ahead. I believe Malcolm Forbes has these characteristics, and for this reason I will vote for him for Governor of New Jersey.

Some four weeks before Election Day — at a point when the gubernatorial campaign is being clouded by smears and innuendoes smeared against individuals and organizations — it is only right to turn from the shadows, and the unfounded, to consideration of verifiable facts. It is time to analyze achievement, time to let Robert B. Meyner's record speak for itself.

There is, for instance, the GOP-generous debate about "spending and spenders". What are the facts? From 1952 to 1955 the bursements did increase 92 million dollars a year, but of that increase 48 million a year (well over 60 per cent) represent desperately needed, and long-overdue, grants to education. In the same period New Jersey's school enrollment jumped from 759,000 to 860,000 (and by 1965 will reach an estimated 1,200,000).

The balance of 34 millions (the difference between $92,000,000 and the amounts understandably allowed for our schools) provided for vastly improved operations of state institutions that have substantially a positive program of rehabilitation for inhuman custodial care; increased enrollments at teachers' colleges, from 2,900 to 5,200; and a partial program of salary adjustments for underpaid state employees.

In comparison with this overall increase of 46 per cent in state expenditures during the "Eisenhower Quadrennium", which has carried Big Government and the cost-of-living to new heights, it is interesting to note that between 1950 and 1953 — with a Republican Governor as well as a Republican legislature in Trenton — state bursements actually rose 47 per cent. The Meyner budget, as noted, is up from the last GOP budget, but in the eight years of GOP control immediately preceding the Meyner administration the State's budget ballooned an astronomical 174 per cent.

Republican strategists, in conjuring up tax baguinos, conveniently forget that New Jersey is one of the few states with neither a general sales or personal income tax and has the lowest rate of state taxation in the nation (5.196 against a national average of 8.700). Nor should it be forgotten that New Jersey's favorable tax structure has been a major factor in Princeton's development into one of the world's leading research centers.

Unlike Senator Forbes, who seems to insist that the central issue is "who will give New Jersey four years of the cheapest government", I would like to broaden the spectrum and point up some of the outstanding developments which merit the attention of Princeton voters.

● Many antiquated governmental routines have been streamlined, including the one-stalling system of having to appear in person in order to renew automobile registrations and driving licenses.

● Not a single dollar of state debt has been authorized; the existing debt will have been reduced by $30,000,000 in four years.

MAKE YOUR HOME MORE LIVABLE WITH BURNHAM Cast-Iron BASE-RAY!

The cozy, clean, draft-free warmth from BASE-RAY Radiant baseboards is the warmest floor-to-ceiling heat known. And solid, dent-proof cast-iron construction gives true radiant heat plus lifetime service.

• EASY TO INSTALL •

ADVANTAGES OVER STEEL OR COPPER BASEBOARD:

1. With BURNHAM Base-ray's Cast-Iron you get radiant heat — with copper or steel units you get warm air.
2. Cast-Iron BURNHAM Base-ray's Radiant Heat means warm floors and walls — only 2" in 3" temperature difference between floor and ceiling. Because warm air rises, units primarily heating the air cannot provide such even temperatures.
3. BURNHAM Base-ray is only 7" high, looks natural in your living room. Most copper and steel baseboard is 10" high and looks more artificial.
4. Cast-Iron BURNHAM Base-ray is sturdy, no fins to break off in later years.
5. Cast-Iron BURNHAM Base-ray is a bit more expensive than competitive steel or copper baseboards. But the overall cost of your whole heating job this difference will be perhaps 2 to 3%.
6. Cast-Iron BURNHAM Base-ray will give you steady heat. Because copper heats and cools rapidly, copper baseboard will give you cycles of "Too Hot" and "Too Cool."

WHAT IS RADIANT HEAT?

Ever been out on a warm spring day? The radiant warmth of the sun's rays gives your body that comfortable feeling. Let the sun get behind a cloud and you are suddenly chilly. The temperature of the air hasn't changed, but you've lost the radiant heat of the sun. That's what you give up when you install a warm air system instead of a radiant hot water heating system. And cast iron Base-ray provides a maximum of radiant heat. The warm surfaces of the room give off rays which warm your body like the sun.

PLANS FOR FALL SEASON: Junior Faculty Wives plan a busy program for the coming month. Shown above are Mrs. Richard T. Frost, Mrs. John B. Thomas, Mrs. Robert W. Bask, Mrs. John A. ### Why I Plan To Vote

● A master plan for state highway construction—the first in New Jersey history—has been implemented.

● Appointments to state offices have been made on the basis of qualification, not political allegiance. Of more than 100 women appointed, including the first woman cabinet officer in New Jersey's history, nearly half have been Republicans or Independents.

● The steady shrinkage of open land has been offset by increasing the acreage of state parks, forests and beaches, which now total more than 250,000 acres.

● Applications for state jobs no longer note race or color, so that top people of all faiths, all races, can apply for top jobs without fear of discrimination.

● Honest, all-out efforts have been made to root out the corrosive influences of graft, corruption and organized crime.

In conclusion, in view of Senator Forbes' proclivity for dramatizing and even glossing the accomplishments of the Republican-controlled Legislature, I would like to turn back the clock to 1963—to the spring the Senator was backing the GOP organization for the gubernatorial nomination.

At a Republican gathering in March, 1963, the good Senator had this to say about New Jersey's Upper House: "I am a member of 10 Senate committees, and not one of them has met. It's a joke. It's contrary to the laws of the State and the Constitution. You would be indignant if you knew who and what has the say about the bills that are introduced."

Under committee sponsorship, a weekly medical clinic is conducted at 180 Nassau Street by Dr. David Rose and Mrs. Mabel Zion, a registered nurse. The committee also gives two courses in marriage and parenthood.

● Jazz Concert Planned. The Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its third annual jazz concert this fall as its major fund-raising project. A committee has been organized. Jaycee president Arnold Stroh-korb to make arrangements.

The organization will continue to participate in the Teen-Center during the coming year and will hold picnics and arrange special holiday programs at the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at Skillman. The "School for Small fry" will get underway immediately. Other Jaycee projects include "Office of Democracy," selecting the outstanding young man of the year, and the annual spring teen-age rodeo.

● TB Check-Ups Set. The Princeton Tuberculosis League will have a mobile X-ray unit in Princeton from Monday, October

21, through Friday, October 25. The check-up is free and available to all Princetonians. The League is strongly recommending that every one take advantage of the X-ray unit and receive a check-up against the communicable disease.

The unit will be on Nassau Street opposite Palmer Square on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 21 to 23. On Thursday, it will be stationed on Witherspoon Street in front of the Y.M.C.A. and on Friday at the Princeton Shopping Center. The schedule at all locations will be from 1 to 5 p.m. and from 6 to 9 p.m.

OPINION ON POLLS POLLED: Town Topics asked Princetonians this week what they thought of one of the community's major "industries," public opinion research. Mrs. Douglas Smith, whose husband is a student at Princeton Seminary, was among those voicing approval. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards).

Question of the Week

Question: What do you think of public opinion polls?
Location: Nassau Street.

Gordon Geis, with Community Planning Associates, 92-A Nassau Street. They serve as a very valuable approach to problems and aspects of life today. They carry thought on trends and what the future might hold. Often the work we do has some relation to polls.

Mrs. Douglas Smith, wife of seminarian, Hodge Hall: I think they're okay. It's a good way to find out what people think. However, I don't see how most political polls can be accurate. Also, the polls that just show up a lot of numbers don't mean much to me.

Clark Cameron, 9 Palmer Square, survey director with Opinion Research Corp.: Let's assume the polls are conducted responsibly by persons who are versed in their trade and are aware of the limitations as well as capabilities of the various polling devices. Assuming these things, attitude or opinion type studies perform a most valuable function, whether for government, industry, or charitable groups, publishers or other organizations or prominent individuals who are concerned with some aspect of public opinion. This type of scientific poll is a form of radar in human relations, telling people in responsible positions of the reefs and shoals that may be ahead, or of the courses they may set, and maintain to the greatest mutual advantage of the public and themselves.

Robert W. Shapiro, student, 112 Walker Hall: I agree with the person who said there are three kinds of lies—"lies, white lies and statistics." You can get statistics to prove anything you want. You couldn't believe all of them, because they often contradict each other. And who can say what's a real cross-section is?

Eugene Marello, accountant employed here, 6 Eukan Road, Levittown, Pa.: It's hard to say after the bust on the 1948 election. A lot depends on how much is actually given you. Kinsey qualified every statement he made. Instead of just giving percentages, you need information in order to evaluate the poll. But maybe people don't want to take the time to go through all the details of it. They're a good thing if handled properly.

Robert Vandewater, manager of Borden-Castanea, 9 Charlton Street: I don't pay much attention to them usually. I do when they publish some of the answers given. But I can't see much in the figures. Some people are influenced by them; they leave some people cold.

Pierre A. S. Eristoff, University lecturer, 19 University Place: In countries where there is strong government supervision on the public, people don't let their real thoughts and feelings out when someone comes to the door or sends a questionnaire. In this country people, I think, answer just the way they feel about it in most cases. But I think a poll can be made to make any point you want it to.

Mrs. David Boss, wife of Seminary student, Hodge Hall: I think they are amusing, when the people's answers are given. But I really don't take too much stock in them. You know, you could interview just the right people. Incidentally, this is my first time to be caught in a poll.

HOW GOOD IS PRINCETON?

Another Look Will Help. Pennsylvania's football team, itself something of an undetermined factor this season, will serve as another measuring stick Saturday for Princeton's overconfident Tigers. Game time for the Orange and Black's second Ivy League hurdle is 2 p.m. in Palmer Stadium.

The Quakers have lost twice, first to Penn State by 18-14 and last weekend to Dartmouth, 6-3. In each case, they hurt themselves badly with fumbles, so much so that had they hung onto the ball, they might be coming into Palmer Stadium with a 2-0 rather than a winless record.

Cappy Cappon, end coach of the Princeton football team who has scouted Penn this season, reports that "it is a much better outfit than it was a year ago" (1954: Princeton 34, Penn 0). The Quakers showed considerable superiority over Dartmouth in moving the ball, picking up 230 yards on the ground while holding the Green to 140. They had a 13-9 edge in first downs, but could not supply the necessary scoring punch.

It is in passing that the Philadelphia entry does not measure up as a serious threat. Against Dartmouth, Penn attempted only three aerials; one was no good, one was completed for 31 yards and the third never got away. Without a breakaway back to its credit, the Red and Blue cannot hope to measure up as an offensive power.

Injuries have bothered the Quakers, as they have most other Ivy elevens. Veteran quarterback Frank Riepl, the team's best passer, will miss the game Saturday — his third of the season — because of a bone fracture in his foot. Last week, Penn used Hal Musick for the full 60 minutes in his place. Coach Steve Sebo, now in his fourth season, will probably start sophomore Fred Doelling and senior Dick McGinley as halfbacks, with senior Bill Young at full. Young is a native Princetonian, spent most of his boyhood here and prepared for college at nearby Freddie. His father, now a resident of Dover, was for many years assistant health officer in this borough.

Tigers Near Full Strength. Indications at midweek were that Princeton would be nearer full strength for the Penn set-to than for either of its first two games. Captain Jack Saporich, who spent the entire afternoon on the bench last week for the first time in his varsity career, is expected to be ready following recovery from an ankle sprain. Tailback Tom Morris, whose shoulder was severely bruised on the same play that knocked him cold in the Rutgers game, is figured to be ready. He, too, could not play in the 47-6 rout of Columbia.

Also missing from action Saturday were tackle Gene Forcione, 207-lb. letterman, and sophomore Ed Kostelnik, a promising end who had the starting position clinched until he came down with a severe case of gripe. In their absence, sophomore Frank Schultz filled in very well for Forcione and Jim Vahaska, senior letterman took over capably at right end.

Competition for positions on the team is such that a player who misses several days for illness or injury has a major battle on

WE Congratulate

BOB GROVER
Princeton High Lineman

Football linemen, the unsung heroes "up front," often play ball for years without receiving more than a word or two of newspaper notice. They play for the love of the sport—for the opportunity to develop themselves through physical contact and to derive the solid benefits of competition. Such a performer is Bob Grover of Princeton High School, an 18-year-old senior letterman who is playing variety ball hard and well for the third straight year.

Against Leonard's two weeks ago, he contributed "a wonderful ball game," according to Gerry Groninger, veteran PHS defensive coach who is credited by his colleagues with the development of Grover. "I think he made close to 50% of the tackles for Princeton that day."

Last Friday, with two of the Little Tigers' top offensive linemen sidelined, Grover was required to go "both ways." He started at right tackle for the first time, and he handled left guard duties on defense as well. "He was a little nervous about the offensive assignment," Groninger confided, "but he was great. He excelled both ways—and may well have saved us the game late in the first half."

PHS was leading 6-0 (the final score) as Hamilton moved ed downhill with just over a minute to play. A Hornet back shot over Princeton's 10-yard line and Grover wisely tackled the ball. When it spurted from the carrier's arms, Joe Nutt recovered the fumble and PHS was home free. It was a fine defensive effort by Grover who, incidentally, provided a key block when the Little Tigers scored the telltale touchdown on an off-tackle slant—on Grover's side of the line.

A resident of nearby Skillman, Grover proved his desire and determination by working hard this past summer to lose 15 pounds and report near the 200-mark. "He's much better this year," according to Groninger, "because of his sincere weight-lossing project and maturity gained since last season." Last week's offensive success also added Grover's confidence and he's becoming something of a PHS "holler guy."

Judging from his performance against Hamilton, lineman Bob Grover will be giving PHS parties lots to "holler" about in his last five games.

ondary. Consequently, the Tigers' trap plays worked to perfection, with not only Tiley, the fullback, busting through for big gains but Heyd, the tailback, running through the same spot after faking a handoff. The longest run of the day, Heyd's 41-yard touchdown jaunt scored after the second half opened, was chalked up through that sector.

Highly optimistic after its upset of Brown, Columbia found deflation can be experienced even more rapidly. Princeton got its hands on the ball five times in the first half, rolling for touchdowns the first three, stalling out after penalties the next time, and then going 82 yards in just 80 seconds to make it 27-6 at the half.

The Lions' lone score came on a 71-yard pass play that fooled the third-string Princeton secondary. It was the only aerial the losers completed all day long of so others that were launched and another six to eight they tried but could not throw before the passer was smothered.

Scoring Summary. In order, the victors went 41 yards in 12 plays, with Heyd scoring from a yard out; 61 yards in six plays, with Tiley wringing from a yard away; 80 yards in 12 plays, with Mottley going over from the 2 on an inside reverse; 61 yards in five, with Mottley throwing to Stansbury from the 17; 41 yards in two plays, with Heyd going to Stansbury after an incomplete pass; 28 yards in three plays. Dan Sachs slung off tackle for the final drive and 45 yards in seven plays. Dick George scoring this one from two yards away.

Statistically, the Tigers raised all kinds of hob: their 33 first downs and 491 yards rushing broke all-time records set five years ago against Harvard, and they held the losers to nine yards on the ground and first down. These may be defensive records, but the books don't show them.

It will, accordingly, be something more of an assignment than Penn can handle to stop a Princeton team with this kind of ability. The Quakers are expected to make a better showing than they did in losing by five touchdowns a year ago, but this Orange and Blue has considerably more depth than the 1956 squad and should not be in trouble.

Fenn's line figures to be stronger than Columbia's, and the rather complete demoralization that set in as early as Baker Field is unlikely to affect the Quakers. If they offer solid opposition, the outcome of the game will serve as a better line on Princeton's 1957 chances in the Ivy League chase. It is hard to deny, however, that they are fairly bright.

PHS SEKS CURE

Fumblitis, Not Flu, Damaging. A number of interscholastic football games in New Jersey and across the nation were cancelled last week end due to outbreaks of respiratory ailments. Princeton High's gridgers were not hampered by many flu cases but they suffered from an acute, near-fatal case of fumblitis—a malady which Coach Joe Jingo and his able aides hope to correct this week while the Little Tigers are enjoying an open date in their 1957 schedule.

PHS bobbed the ball no less than six times during the course of last Friday's fairly even, sloppily played contest with Hamilton High on dry and dusty Harris Field. Fortunately, the Blue and White recovered five of these fumbles; yet, each miscue cost the Princeton eleven a lot of yardage and one of them, in the second quarter, cost PHS a touchdown that might have busted the game wide open. To date, the Little Tigers have fumbled 11 times in two outings, or once more than the undefeated PHS club of 1950 fumbled during an entire season.

Princeton High squeaked to a slim 6-0 verdict over the visiting Hornets primarily because the Orange did some fumbling of their own five times, to be exact—and because the PHS defenders continued to perform in commendable fashion. As Jingo commented after the game, "The first half was ours—we got five first downs to their one—and the second half was theirs—they picked up six first downs to our two."

The Little Tigers' defense held the Hornets to 77 yards on the ground, and so have permitted their opponents only 105 yards rushing in two games. Princeton's pass defense looked much improved over the Leonardo nightmare, though the visitors attempted only five tosses, completing a pair, and never could muster the aerial strength displayed by powerful Leonardo. Co-Captain Bill Gallant, one of the best defensive ends in recent PHS history, played a bang up game on the right flank in thwarting Hornet thrusts, while tackle Bob Grover, (see "We Congratulate") was credited with "the best all-around performance" by his coaches.

Riddick Scores Touchdown. After outlasting and outmaneuvering but not outpointing Hamilton throughout the opening quarter, the Little Tigers finally inaugurated a scoring drive on the Hornet 38 in the second period. They covered the 65 yards in seven plays, with tailback Ed Riddick driving over from Hamilton's one to give PHS the all-important TD. Joe Nutt's conversion attempt was blocked and, moments later, Princeton failed twice to tally from the Hornets' one-yard line—once due to the aforementioned fumble—so the contest was a close one at halftime.

Somewhat rejuvenated, Hamilton battled back following the intermission, only to be stymied by the Blue and White's determined forward wall and, in particular, by a Hornet fumble which Nutt recovered on Princeton's 10 late in the fourth quarter. PHS tried unsuccessfully to enlarge its margin by a series of Butch Cross passes, but Cross was off-target on Friday and missed wingback Alan Ammerman and fullback Vic Fasanello when they were well in the clear.

Right tackle Durce Larsen and left guard Deyo Swartz, beefy regulars, were unable to play against Hamilton and several key substitutes were unavailable as a result of bad colds. Thus, the Inspired work of those on hand—sparked by Grover—became more important.

With its victory over Hamilton, Princeton got off to a good, albeit shaky, start in quest of the mythical Mercer County grid title an intrasquad game will be held this Friday, with a fumblitis vaccine being sought, and then PHS will visit Trenton High on October 18 in search of its second intracounty triumph.

HUN HUMBLED

Bryn Athyn Next. —Boasting Princeton's only secondary school football attraction of the coming week end, Han School will engage Bryn Athyn Academy at 3 p.m. Friday in the Red and Black's home opener. The game is rated a toss-up, despite the fact that Han was humbled last Friday, 31-0, by a tough Tower Hill eleven while Bryn Athyn was busy rolling up touchdowns for

BACK IN FORM—NO CONTENTION: Having laid off during the 1955-56 bowling season and found the going tough last year, veteran kiegler Pete Pranis served notice early this campaign that he's regained his touch. a 47-4 verdict over Pennsylvania School for the Deaf.

Curiously, though the Johnny Huns battled virtually the same Tower Hill team as last year and wound up losing almost as badly (it was 32-0 in 1954), Coach Hawley Waterman thought his club "played much better ball" this time out. "We gave them everything," Waterman observed. "The had one game under their belt and more practice, and then we really got hurt by fumbling four of their five kicks. It was a close game but the score might indicate."

Tower Hill struck for two quick touchdowns in the first three minutes of play, thereby crushing Huns' hopes of victory in a hurry. A bad pass from center, as Huns was preparing to punt out of trouble on fourth down, resulted in Tower Hill taking possession on the Hun seven and led to the winners' initial score. On the ensuing kickoff, flat passes in an effort to catch up. An intercepted TD was set up on the Hun 12.

The Johnny Huns waged an even battle through the remainder of the first half, but ran into more difficulty in the third quarter when took chances and threw a couple of passes in an effort to catch up. An intercepted TD enabled Tower Hill to move to its third touchdown early in the second half and a running pass backfired to make possible another TD by the Wilmington club early in the fourth period. Recovery of another kickoff fumble on Hun's 29 opened the gates for the first and final tally.

BOWLING NOTES

Pete Pranis, the fifteen kiegler who recently posted the season's highest single game in league competition to date (a nifty 255 while bowling for Decker's Dairy in the Major loop), is prouder of his 255 than almost all of us. 275s he has tossed in his 20-year career (59 of them, to be exact) . . . reason: he laid off bowling in 1955, took his time loosening up last year and now apparently has regained his form . . . one of the organizers of the Mercer County Major League and a regular performer with the Classic League at Colonial as well as the Major loop at Princeton Recreation Center . . . boasts a distinguished alley record . . . in addition to his 275s, he has rolled one 298 and a 300 in 1958, has set Princeton's high mark for five consecutive games (1211) and a three-game bad (789) and has established Hightstown's all-time three-game record (711) . . . in 1942, he

13th Hole-in-One!

H.T. (Bud) Cook won the Springfield Golf Club's 1957 championship Sunday by defeating Jerry Lauek, 7 and 5, in a 36-hole match, but much attention was diverted from the annual competition by other developments at Springfield last week. Playing the 15th hole, a guest golfer from New York City fired the course's 13th hole-in-one of the year—an unprecedented number for Springfield (and most other clubs as well).

Betty Winklo, Princeton's top distaff golfer, registered the 12th hole-in-one of the season a week or two earlier while shooting with Charlie Price, one of the summer's first hole-in-ones. Mrs. Winklo's memorable stroke was only the third scored on the 15th. Seven of Springfield's hole-in-ones were made on the 15th and two were picked up on the ninth. Longest of the four put three's. A lone hole-in-one was fired on the second hole.

tors took a 2-0 lead in the first half on goals by Bob Mueller and Dudley Blodgett, with West Windsor averting a shutout in the final period.

Following a mid-week game with Lawrence Junior High, PCD will play Witherspoon on Friday and Valley Road next Thursday. The school's football team will open its six-game schedule on Tuesday, facing Pingry away.

GOP Scores a Point

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I have noted the statement in your last issue that "as far as the clerks could guess" the Democrats had induced more non-registrants to see the clerks before the deadline for voter registration than the Republicans. I am in no position to speak on the Boocough, but I know that for the Township this is a most inaccurate report.

In the first place, the Township Clerk was not consulted about this statement and made no guess on the matter. In the second place, a large and dedicated group of Republicans in the Township spent the last deal of time, on a completely non-partisan basis, canvassing their areas for registration purposes. Only in two limited areas was there any indication of such activity on the part of the Democrats. In the third place, their much-publicized registration campaign announced during the summer.

In justice to the efforts of all these public-spirited citizens, I would like to have the record set straight, and to say that we Republicans are proud of the large numbers of new Township registrants, Republican and Democrat, whom we were able to help.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Your list of phobias was a pretty complete one, but it slighted admirers of hydrophobia in its omission of lycophobia. At all good phobias know, the latter refers to the morbid dread of hydrophobia.

News Of The CHURCHES

BUILDING PLANS

Unitarians, Methodists. The Tower Construction Company of Princeton has been given the contract for construction of the new Unitarian Church that will be built on the corner of Cherry Hill and Somerville Roads.

Rowan Boone, chairman of the church's building committee, reports that builders are scheduled to begin work this Monday and to finish by July or August of next year. Architects for the structure are Warner, Burns, Toan and Lundie, New York.

On Monday, October 28, Princeton's Methodists will launch a fundraising drive for their new educational wing and for the complete re-doing of the first floor of their present building. B. Woodhull Davis is chairman of the canvass committee.

The exact amount to be raised will be determined after a consultation with members of fundraising specialists from the New Jersey Methodist Conference who will be in Princeton October 28.

B'nai Brith Activities. B'nai Brith Women of Princeton will hold a membership tea Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Maurice Glickman, 24 Broadridge Drive, Mrs. Morrill Zander and Mrs. Morton H. Lewin will be hostesses.

The organization will also sponsor a reception for freshmen this Friday at 8 p.m. in the Hillel rooms of Murray-Dodge Hall on the University campus. The occasion will mark the 10th anniversary of Hillel at Princeton. Dr. Irving Levy will conduct services, while Mrs. Egon Loebner and Mrs. Bernard Goldstein are in charge of arrangements.

Bulletin Notes. Round-bell dinner this Saturday, 6:30-7:30 p.m., Rosedale Chapel. Fall luncheon, Women's Association, First Presbyterian Church next Monday, 12:45 p.m., with the Rev. S.S. Golden guest speaker on mental health. Silver Tea, benefit Belvedere and Haddonfield Homes, next Thursday, 3 p.m., Second Presbyterian Church. Fried en sautee this Saturday, 6 p.m., Princeton Presbyterian Church.

200 Years at Rocky Hill

A small white country church, considered an architectural beauty by many architects, will celebrate this Sunday its one hundredth year as a place of worship.

The Rocky Hill Reformed Church, built in 1857, has invited all its former parishioners, present members and former members to a special centennial service at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Dr. Justin Vanderhoek of New Brunswick Seminary will preach, assisted by the Rev. Charles Bridgman, who is pastor of the church. The Westminster Choir College's Chapel Choir will sing at both the morning worship and afternoon Centennial services.

The church interior was redecorated in 1951, its altarpiece restored and new lighting fixtures installed. The exterior of both church and chapel were extensively repaired during the past year.

Obituaries

Theodore G. Gruber, 78, of Santa Ana, Calif., died in Orange County Hospital there on October 1. He was the father of Mrs. Thomas J. Wertenbaker, Jr. and grandfather of Thomas J. Wertenbaker, 34, both of Princeton.

Born in St. Louis, Mr. Gruber had attended the Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, and Concordia College, Seward, Neb. He was associated with Braun, Inc., until its dissolution in 1924, moving at that time to California.

His widow, the former Anne Pauline Braun of Santa Ana, Calif., also survives. The funeral and interment were in Santa Ana.

Mrs. Marline K. Kibbey, 73, of 1 Madison Avenue, died October 7 in Princeton Hospital. Born in Austria, she had been a resident of Princeton for 22 years.

Mrs. Kibbey, widow of George Kibbey, was a member of Court Moran 378, Catholic Daughters of America, and the Star of the Garter Society of St. Paul's Church. A daughter, Mrs. Karl Zapf of Princeton; a sister and a grandson survive.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, followed by requiem high mass at St. Paul's Church and burial in the parish cemetery.

Mrs. Laura Grover Wyche, 42, of Camp Meeting Avenue, Skillman, was found dead at her home on October 3. Death was attributed to natural causes after neighbors, alarmed at not having seen her for several days, had summoned State Police.

Employed at the Carrier Clinic in Belle Mead, Mrs. Wyche is survived by a daughter and three sisters, including Mrs. Ben Am Rule of Little Rocky Hill. The service was held at a Hopewell funeral home, followed by burial in Stoughton Cemetery.

"Faith's Angels of Vision," the Rev. David L. Crawford; 6:45 p.m., Junior and Senior Westminster Fellowship.

First Presbyterian, Plainsboro, Sunday, 9:45, Sunday school; 11 a.m., "The Mystery of Wickedness," the Rev. Robert Blackwell; 7 p.m., junior and senior high school fellowship; 8 p.m., young adult fellowship.

PRACTICALLY PERFECT

For $33,500
There are many nice houses in Princeton (naturally), but every now and then one comes along that knocks even hardened real estate people for a loop. This lovely little Colonial is one of them. Everything about the house is appealing—the walking distance location on a charmingly desirable Borough street; its specially secluded lot with a large patio and beautiful greenery; the condition and layout of the house itself. Living room with built-in bookshelves and fireplace, small cozy sleeping porch, dining room, pleasant kitchen, powder room and even a wee bar add up to charm and convenience downstairs. Above are three airy bedrooms, below a full basement. Overall the house is small—it is one of its charms—but a couple or single person could make right in and live there happily ever after!

NEAT AND SWEET

Reduced for Quick Sale to $14,700.

This little white frame house in a friendly neighborhood has a welcoming look, nestled as it is among evergreens and flowering shrubs and all sorts of pretty, well-kept landscaping. It also has a flourishing vegetable garden. Inside it is equally well kept with fresh paint on the walls of living room, 2 bedrooms and shiny big kitchen. For a retired couple who love to putter around the yard or a family with one child who want to be near shopping, school and bus line, this small house—with a large basement for spillover of all kinds—has definite possibilities.

Did You Know— In Princeton

THAT — Building costs are still on the increase—

THAT — The more desirable locations are fast disappearing in the Princeton area—

THAT — You can still buy a new Custom Built Ranch — split level for $24,500

THAT — OVERBROOK still has eight large 1/2 acre lots within 2 blocks of the school

THAT — PRINCETON MANOR has a wide choice of 1/2 acre lots and homes available—

THAT — The Builders of SHADYBROOK and LAKE CARNEGIE ESTATES are the same builders who are completing the OVERBROOK and PRINCETON MANOR residential areas—

THAT — These sections offer finished streets — sewer, and all utilities — IN AND PAID FOR—

THAT — House, Price and Location cannot be equaled in the area—

REAL ESTATE OFFERINGS

SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED

PRINCETON

Ederstone—Newly decorated traditional house on two acre wooded lot. Combines gracious living with nominal maintenance. The foyer enters into a spacious living room with fireplace, dining room, step-down paneled library with concealed bar, and ample maid's quarters with attached two car garage. An outdoor patio provides complete privacy for dining and entertaining.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS TO BUY

PRINCETON

This seems to be the ideal combination of a convenient location with old trees and a new ranch house that appears to have grown there. The living area is spacious and convenient; the sleeping area with its three bedrooms and bath is most adaptable.

$29,500

PRINCETON

Conveniently located to schools, this two-story house includes a living room, dining ell, four bedrooms and bath. A full basement and fenced back yard completes this livable house.

PRINCETON

Trees, lawns and terraces have removed the newness but not the freshness of this commodious, contemporary home. A beamed ceiling living room, a separate and sized dining room, a bright kitchen with hard-wood appliances, all make for limitless possibilities. Four airy bedrooms with beautiful colored, space and two full bathrooms provide convenience and real livability.

PRINCETON

A three bedroom, two bathroom rambler in a quiet residential area, yet convenient to Township schools and shopping. This well planned house offers a graciously proportioned living room with fireplace, dining area, a large step-down paneled den, and a nicely arranged kitchen which includes stove and dishwasher. A two-car attached garage completes this attractive home.
